

Chanyuan (Abigail) Zhang is a Ph.D. candidate in the Accounting Information System department at Rutgers Business School. Her research addresses the impacts of emerging technologies, especially Machine Learning (ML) and Artificial Intelligence (AI), on auditing practice and research. She is the author and instructor for the American Institute of CPA (AICPA) audit automation course modules.